Naval Constructor John Spilman and Mrs. Spilman left yesterday for the Brooklyn Navy Yard, where the former is now stationed. Mr. and Mrs. Spilman, who have but recently returned from their honeymoon in Europe, have been visiting Mr. Spilman's mother, Mrs. Henningham Spilman, on Floyd Avenue, before leaving for their home in the North. Their wedding, which took place several months ago from the country home of the bride's mother, near Blue Ridge Summit, Pa., was a fashionable event.

Weddings of Note.
There will be several important weddings of interest to Richmond society today. The marriage of Miss Sarah Chandler Jeffers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bacon Jeffers, and Branch Beale Morgan, will take place very quietly this evening at the home of the bride's parents, 514 22nd Avenue. Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends will witness the ceremony and a small reception will follow.

Another interesting home wedding for this evening is that of Miss Elise

Wilson White, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. White, of Abington, to Victor S. Maine, of Danie. The ceremony will take place very quietly at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Arthur P. Wilmer, 217 West Grace Street. Only the families and a few friends will be present.

The wedding of Miss Lucy Winston Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wilmer Sims, and William Worth Smith, Jr., of Fauquier County, will be celebrated this evening at 8:30 o'clock at the Sims' home in Louisa. There will be a large bridal party, and a reception will follow the ceremony.

At the Art Club.
The Rev. Dr. J. O'Connell, Bishop of Richmond, addressed the Art Club last evening on the subject of "The Cultivation of the Aesthetic Sense." His address was a most interesting and instructive one, and was well received by the audience. It was an inspiring address, showing that through with the charm and power of a man who has read beauty's message from the art of all the world.

Bishop O'Connell set forth in the simplest, most direct manner his arguments upon this debated question. The aesthetic sense, first of all, is that faculty by which we apprehend the sensation and enjoy the quality of beauty. It is the power to awaken in the heart of all a sense of the immense ocean of heavenly beauty continually around us. The primitive meaning of the word is "to perceive," but it is a perception of the divine, and to feast one's soul adds happiness to a life perhaps a little overcast.

Most happily the bishop concluded his address with commendation upon the success of the Art Club as an indication of the progress of art in Richmond and a sound note for beauty in public squares, beauty in public and private buildings.

At the annual meeting, held just previous to the lecture, reports for the year were read, and the following officers re-elected for the coming year: Major James H. Dooley, president; Admiral Harrie Webster, vice-president; Mrs. C. E. Clarke, recording secretary; Miss Mary Tinsley, corresponding secretary; Helen Lorraine, treasurer. The board of directors includes Miss Mary Tinsley, Miss Lewis H. Blair, Miss Kathleen Bruce, Miss Adele Clarke, Miss Elizabeth Davenport, Miss Mary Davis, Miss Edith A. P. Bagland, Miss Julia Woodbridge, George Bryan, R. A. Lancaster, Jr., Carl Rostrop and John Rutherford.

Those receiving the guests at the reception last evening were: Miss Anna Boykin, Mrs. Lewis Blair, Miss Mary Tinsley, Dr. F. W. Boatwright, Mrs. C. E. Clarke, Miss Adele Clarke, Miss John D. Aunt Sally's Advice to Beauty Seekers

Red Nose. The nose is a more delicate organ than most people imagine. It should be touched as little as possible. For undue redness the treatment recommended in following paragraph will be found effective. Apply without rubbing.

Shady Skin. The safest and surest method of giving a clear, healthy, transparent appearance to the complexion is to apply ordinary merchandise with even hand for some one to two weeks. This wax, obtainable at any drug store, once used is sufficient to take off a bad complexion, and gradually absorbing the impurities of the surface skin. The new skin then in evidence is as fresh and velvet as a young girl's. The wax is applied like cold cream and washed off morning.

Wrinkles. A harmless lotion made as follows has been found very effective in cases of wrinkles and creases. Powdered saffron, 1 oz.; distilled water, 1 pint. Boil in which bath the face in this daily for awhile. Woman's Realm.

ADMINISTRATION CAN LAST BUT SHORT TIME

Spain Bids Fair Before Long to Be Plunged in Throes of Cabinet Crisis.

BY LA MARQUISE DE FONTENAY.
ALTHOUGH Senor Eduardo Dato is one of the most eminent lawyers of Spain, and recognized both at home and abroad as the leading authority on everything relating to her jurisprudence, yet the Conservative administration which he has just formed at Madrid, can hope at the best for a brief existence, and the country bids fair to be plunged into the throes of another of those Cabinet crises which contribute so much to interfere with the normal course of government, and to place almost in the way of the rapid development of national prosperity.

For Senor Dato, a Minister of the Interior in the Cabinet of Silveira, which followed Sagasta's defeat after the war with the United States, has only a section of the Conservative party upon whose support he can rely. The bulk of the party, both in the Cortes and throughout the country, remains faithful to the former Conservative Premier, Maura, and to his chief lieutenant, ex-Minister of the Interior, La Cervera. Now both of these statesmen have not only declined to grant their assistance to Dato, but have even proclaimed that he would find them arrayed against him.

When the Liberal government of Count Romanones was compelled to resign the other day, owing to a defeat in the Cortes, resulting from a split in the Liberal party, the King, in accordance with the obligations imposed upon him as a constitutional monarch, invited Maura to form a Conservative administration. Maura announced to the sovereign that he would only undertake the task on the understanding that all the colleagues of his former Cabinet of 1909 were included in the new government, and that he would be permitted to carry out unaltered the reactionary program which brought about its downfall. Alfonso XIII. would not consent to this. He felt that it would be not only a casting doubt on the authority of the forces of the revolution, but that it would have the effect of driving the bulk of the Liberals into the revolutionary ranks.

Maura made no secret to the King that he would make it his duty to the beautiful estate of Mr. and Mrs. Gilpin, in Clark County.

After the wedding Dr. Allen and his bride will live at Winchester.

Visiting Relatives.
Mrs. M. H. Omohundro, who is visiting relatives and friends at Louisa, will spend some time in Keswick, Palmyra and Scottsville before returning to her home. Mr. Omohundro spent the past week with Mrs. Omohundro at Palmyra, where he went to join a party of friends on a hunting trip.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Eache, 2115 Floyd Avenue, was the scene of a delightful surprise party on Friday evening in honor of their son, Harrison C. Eache, on his sixteenth birthday. Music and games amused the guests, and supper was served at 11 o'clock. Among those present were Misses Nellie Anderson, Olive Evans, Belle Walther, Genevieve Evans, Edna Walther, Miss Sydney, Virginia Bland, Norma, Pauline Eanes, Margaret Wood, Nellie Brown, Gladys Donald, Marjorie Harcum, Frank King, Aubrey Stratton, Eugene Sowell, Frank Kahn, Wellford Trevillian, Thomas Brooks, John Drinnard, Carlyle Benedict, Leo Hill, Nelson Jennings, William Walther, Raymond Walther, Edward Henley and Charles Eache.

U. D. C. Meeting.
Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, will hold its regular meeting this morning at 11 o'clock in Lee Camp Hall. At this time reports from the U. D. C. Convention recently held in New Orleans will be made.

Meeting Postponed.
The regular meeting of the Story-Tellers' League of Richmond has been postponed from this week to Wednesday afternoon, November 26, at 5 o'clock. This postponement is due to the course of lectures on Story-Telling Monday and Tuesday.

Annual Pledge Party.
The Silver Circle of King's Daughters will have its annual pledge party with Mrs. Julian P. Green, at 2093 Grove Avenue, Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged, and Mrs. George T. King, treasurer of the Sheltering Arms Free Hospital, will be present. Each member may bring a friend.

In and Out of Town.
Mrs. C. P. Stokes and her daughter, Miss Alice Stokes, have returned from England, where they have been the guests of relatives for some time past.

Mrs. F. L. Wheat and Miss Virginia Tyler left yesterday to visit friends in Norfolk.

Mrs. Charles D. Ball is spending the winter in Washington at 209 A Street, Southeast.

Miss Josephine Clarke, of Norfolk, is with her aunt, Miss Ellen Glasgow, in New York.

Miss Beattie Drumeller, of Clifton Forge, is the guest of friends here for a week.

Miss Marion Driver and Miss Ruby B. Brown have returned to the city, after a short stay in Norfolk.

Miss Helen Christian, of West Franklin Street, is the guest of relatives in Washington.

Miss Jacqueline Smith is visiting Miss Mary Powers at her home, 1709 Park Avenue.

They differed with Count Romanones about the attitude of his government towards the Barcelona strike, about his failure to reconcile the Moors to Spanish rule in Morocco, but more especially about his "Maconduchade" measure, which provides for a decentralization, and for the extension of very much larger powers to provincial and municipal authorities, and local administrators generally. While this measure is a very popular one brought out the country, especially in the northern portion of the kingdom, the dissident Liberal leaders claim that it is calculated to encourage regionalism, particularly in Catalonia, to a degree that could not but endanger the unity of the nation.

Spain is now confronted by two alternatives: the one, a reconstruction of the present Conservative Cabinet, with the elimination of Premier Dato, and the inclusion of the masterful ultra-Conservative leader Maura, and La Cervera; or what is far more probable, a reconciliation of the dissident faction of the Liberal party, and their return to power at an early date, in an administration that would include some members of the Romanones Cabinet, as well as the Marquis of Alaiace.

It is not easy to see how the latter is undoubted the course that will appeal to King Alfonso, who has shown in many striking ways, during the last four or five years, that he leans strongly towards Liberalism, and who is anxious to identify himself with the reactionary type of Conservatism, represented by ex-Premier Maura.

Incidentally, it is pleasant to note that the change of Cabinet at Madrid has brought no change in the personnel of the Spanish mission at Washington, and that the advent to office of the Dato administration has not interfered with the promotion of Senor Don Juan Riano y Gayangos, from the rank of minister to that of ambassador.

Most of his diplomatic career, and spent in this country, as secretary of legation, charge d'affaires, and as minister plenipotentiary, and there is no member of the foreign service of Spain who possesses a more extensive acquaintance with men and conditions in America, or who is more favorably known in this country, than this former trusted member of the household of Queen Christina, when regent, and who has now received so well-deserved advancement to the highest grade of the diplomatic profession.

Last summer my mention in these columns of the Turkish ambassador at Washington, while forbidden by his religion to partake of the grape juice offered by Secretary of State Bryan to the foreign envoys, at the banquet given by him in their honor, and my explanation that the prohibition of the Koran was directed, not against alcohol, but against the juice of the grape, whether fermented or unfermented, brought me letters from scores of whiskey distillers in the country, asking the quotation of the precise verses in the Koran dealing with the matter.

It may interest them to know that the Sublime Porte has withdrawn its prohibition of the importation of alcohol, and of all spirits not distilled from grapes. Turkey is far more liberal nowadays than formerly, when the foreign ambassadors were only permitted to import wine on the condition that "the cursed liquor" should be conveyed to the embassies in the dead of night, and with the utmost secrecy. To-day Constantinople is one of the most agreeable diplomatic missions. But in times gone by, the lot of the foreign envoys there was far from pleasant, owing to the number of restrictions imposed upon them by the Sultan. Thus, the number of horses that they could harness to their carriage was limited by law, and for a long time they were not permitted to wear such wives, with their daughters, or in fact, with any woman in public. Endeavors were made to prevent them from using cipher in writing to their governments. There were even times when the ambassadors were expressly forbidden to visit each other, or even to meet at the house of a third party. "You can talk about us as much as you like when you return to Constantinople," was the reply of the Grand Vizier to all remonstrances.
